PRESS RELEASE

September 19, 2013

FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASEGPLN member Unishipping delivers the world's largest copper recycler

Unishipping International Ltd. from Bulgaria arranged recently the delivery of equipment from India for the world's largest copper recycler and his production plant situated in Bulgaria. Equipment consisted of 6 large WESP with unit dimensions of 11715 x 5938 x 5960mm @ 15303 kg, along with other small parts, shipped in standard containers. The large WESP's have been shipped from Mumbai on Flat Rack containers to Constanta Port, Romania. Then, units were re-stuffed from the containers and transshipped onto a convoy of one river vessel and two barges for river transportation on Danube to Port of Lom in Bulgaria. In Lom, the cargo was loaded on trucks to the job site in Pirdop, Bulgaria.

Due to nature of cargo – reinforced plastic and fiber glass material- Unishipping had to be very careful in order to avoid any possible damage and due to this fact they had to cut all the branches of various trees on a distance of about 230km from the port to the job site. The routing included mountain crossing from North to South Bulgaria which is very rarely used by vehicles and since there was limited space, some parts of the road had to be made wider during this mountain crossing of the trucks. Each convoy of two low bed trailers was escorted by police during three separate trips and on also supervised by staff from the National electricity company which had to shut down the high-voltage electricity for passing under those cables. Finally the cargo was delivered successfully and without any delay and damages to its final destination.
